THE RIFTBREAKER - Our next game : Hello everyone! Today, we are proud to announce what we have been secretly working on for more than a year. World, meet our brand new game - THE RIFTBREAKER. The Riftbreaker is a brand-new IP from EXOR Studios. The game combines elements of base-building, survival, exploration and action RPG. The story takes place in the distant future. Humans have managed to master the Rift technology, allowing them to instantaneously travel to far reaches of space. You take the role of captain Ashley S. Nowak, one of the titular Riftbreakers. They are a group of elite scientists/commandos. The Riftbreakers jump into newly established, one-way Rifts with no safety net, with the purpose of establishing a connection back to Earth to allow for further colonization. To make this possible, the pioneers take control of powerful Mecha-suits, equipped with all the tools necessary to get the job done.. The Riftbreaker's Armory - Assault Rifle : Every Mechanically Augmented Riftbreaking System ( MARS ) Suit is factory equipped with several basic weapons and tools to ensure the users survival in the new world. The one that our users tend to utilize the most is the Helios Mk III assault rifle. In spite of very high fire, the MARS Suit allows the Riftbreaker to hold the weapon in one hand only and shoot with minimal recoil. The ammunition productions schematics are included, which means that every Riftbreaker can create the rounds needed in the comfort of their Headquarters. The rounds are transported straight into the chamber thanks to our revolutionary Quantum Transportation Technology. No more running for restocks! We also recognize that the Riftbreakers are elite scientists, therefore, the Helios Mk III is open to further modifications and enhancements.. The Bestiary - Arachnoid Sentinel : Arachnoid Sentinel. It's a minefield out there! : High resolution GIF: The gameplay of The Riftbreaker will put you under all kinds of pressure. Whether it is the need for collecting resources, the threat of an enemy attack, or an unexpected weather event Ashley and Mr. Riggs are going to be in danger. Fighting for survival all the time would be unbearable, of course, so we are going to give you ways to alleviate some of that stress and prepare yourself for whats coming. In the last entry we told you about the towers and fences. They are effective, but setting them up requires a lot of time and resources. There wont be enough time to build a new set of walls every time you are notified about an attack coming from a new direction. Luckily, there are a few toys in Mr. Riggs arsenal that can help you, and landmines are one of them. The mines come in the form of consumable, one-use items, just like a repair kit. You can carry a limited number of them at a time and there is a cooldown after each use. The mines also have a limited lifetime, so you cant just spam them around the base and not worry about anything ever again. They will require you to engage the enemy and lure them into a trap. The risk is great, but so is the reward. The amount of explosives in the mines is enough to wipe out a whole pack of monsters at once. Mines are not going to be the only consumable item that you can use as a trap for the monsters of Galatea 37. We are going to unveil more of them as the time and development progresses. This might be the future, but swords still rock! : I cant think of any better way to start off a day than by repelling a horde of rabid alien dogs trying to breach my bases perimeter. I dont really know what made them so mad at me this time, but I am glad that Mr. Riggs has that big old blade attached. A couple of swings, some help from the towers we set up earlier and were done. The blade seems to be very effective against everything weve come up against so far. Upgrading it with the energetic resonator was a really good idea. It cuts through almost anything - whether its a monster trying to have me and Riggs for dinner, or a tree. And the best part? The metal the blade is made of is so strong theres not even a dent on it. If only I didnt have to get up close and personal to all the critters trying to ruin my day I would be much more confident here. Thats it for now, I have a lot of work to do today. We might have found an alternative power source - Captain Ashley S. Nowak - personal log The blade you can see in the GIF and on our main art is just one of a few melee weapons you can use while playing The Riftbreaker. Its quite strong, but the necessity of getting close to your enemies is a significant drawback. This weapon does not require any ammunition to use, so you will always have a viable plan B when you run out of bullets in your long range weapon. You dont want to explore Galatea 37 defenseless. Unlimited Power! : The Rift Technology is incredible. It can send almost anything across any distance at an instant, opening up paths that were previously inaccessible for humans. There is one limitation that keeps us from conquering the whole universe - it is impossible to transport electric energy without storing it first. That is why it is a priority for every Riftbreaker to establish a robust energy network as soon as possible after arriving to a new world. Luckily, it is not as difficult as it sounds. The first thing you will need is a generator. They can vary in type, output, and size, but more on that later. After youve got your generator up and running, use the energy connectors to start powering the buildings up. Connectors are very simple to use. Place one near a building and it will automatically extend connection cables to it. The connector will also detect any new compatible structures in its vicinity and connect them to the network as well. Once the energy connectors are in place and enough power is brought into the network, the buildings will start their operations. Note that adjacent buildings do not require a connector to make energy transfer possible. There are multiple energy sources you can utilize. The one that is right for your base will mostly be determined by what you can access with the most ease. You should not try to make use of everything you find at once, as it will be highly inefficient and waste a lot of your much limited resources. However, once you are ready to complete your mission that will change. Producing and storing as much energy as possible will be necessary to power a rift back home. Make use of carbon. It is present in some form on almost every planet that supports life. If there is life, there must also be death, decay and their byproducts. Check if decomposing animals and plants produce flammable gases. Scan the geodetic structure of the planet. You might be able to utilize geothermal processes or tectonic movements to power your equipment. If there is access to radioactive isotopes on the planet, do not hesitate and build a nuclear power plant. Once you have your power needs covered, build a fusion reactor. Note that it is possible to utilize renewable energy sources, however they are usually less efficient. Higher resolution: Join the Discord, shape the game! The Heart of Your Base - the Headquarters : The Headquarters is the most important building in the field base. It does not matter where you are going to travel - the Headquarters is designed to provide for the Riftbreakers basic needs regardless of the outside conditions. It is your responsibility to pack enough resources to build one as soon as you arrive through the Rift. Failure to do so will require you to immediately start searching for resources in the unknown, which may result in death. The facilities contained within the building produce food, recycle water, and harvest energy to sustain the Riftbreaker and their Mecha-suit. It is vital to remember that the suit is entangled with the Headquarters. The advantage to this solution is that the suit does not have to be anywhere near the base to collect supplies - it happens automatically over distance. It is also possible to perform a quick Rift jump to the HQ from almost anywhere. - Excerpt from The Riftbreakers Handbook, Vol. 2 HI-res: Join Discord and help shape The Riftbreaker - www.discord.gg/exorstudios Other social media: www.facebook.com/exorstudios www.twitter.com/exorstudios www.instagram.com/exorstudios www.mixer.com/exorstudios
